Males (any person assigned the sex of male at birth) aged 18–25 are required to register with the Selective Service System (SSS). This requirement covers males residing in the United States who are U.S. citizens or noncitizens, except that a male who is in the U.S. as a lawful nonimmigrant isn't required to register as long as he maintains that status. Students who are required to register with the Selective Service must do so to be eligible for federal financial aid funds.

If you did not register for selective service, you must prove that your failure to register was not knowing or willful. The burden of proof is on you to show by a preponderance of evidence that your failure to register was neither knowing nor willful. A preponderance of evidence means a degree of relevant evidence that a reasonable person, considering the record as a whole, would accept as sufficient to support a conclusion that the matter asserted is more likely to be true than not true. Waivers granted are only valid for the agency granting the waiver.
